Men's Club and Sportfishing Club Boards

On April 15th Capt Lee, from my Bahamas trip, and I will be flying to Guatemala where we will meet up with our friend Mario Van Blerk who owns a marina on the Rio Dulce (Sweet River). The three of us will set sail on Mario's 42 foot sailboat, Caracola, to explore the Western Caribbean.

This will be a shorter trip than my Bahamas expedition in 2011.

We expect to be away only about a month this time.

See my journal on the Bahamas trip:

This trip should have minimal effect on the websites. I'll get everything up to date just before I leave and then will jump right on it as soon as I get back.

I will have almost no email or Internet access for much of this adventure, but please send updates and other information as usual and I'll process it as soon as I get back.

The Caracola

Thinking ahead on a title for this journal, I may call this one "Two Captains and a Galley Slave".

*Thanks for your business
...and have a nice day!*
